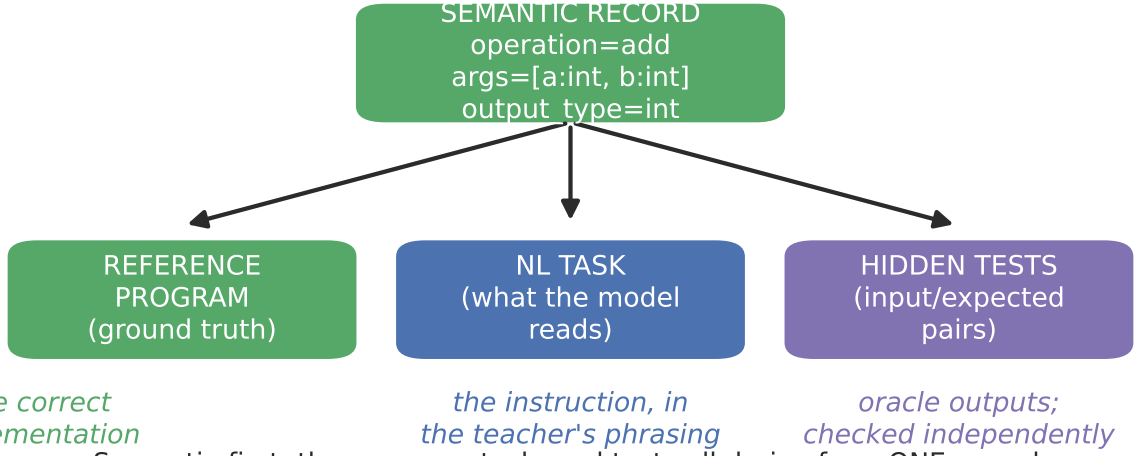
THE TEACHER: one semantic record, three artefacts



Semantic-first: the program, task, and tests all derive from ONE record. This reduces drift, but is not a guarantee — and the tests being independently implemented does not mean the oracle is independently validated. Renderer bugs or a shared wrong assumption can still make all three consistently wrong.